Feast Days

July 14th St Camillus de Lellis (1550 -1614)

In his youth Camillus was 'rough tempered and a gambler'. Guided by st Phelip Neri, he converted and later became a priest. He specialized in caring for the sick. He founded hospitals and is now patron of the sick, hospitals and nurses.

July 15th St Bonaventure (1221-1274)

A Franciscan priest, born in central Italy, he was a famous theologian in his day.

July 16th Our Lady of Mount Carmel

Mount Carmel is situated in Northern Israel. Since 1726 the Carmelite monastery there has celebrated this feast day in honour of Our Lady.

Seeds

Today's Gospel is the parable of the sower going out to sow the seeds, the word of God. Seeds are about life. They hold possibility and potential. They get things started. They are a beginning. They carry our hopes. They are the sowers commitment to the future.

There are all sorts of seeds – seeds of love, friendship, compassion, forgiveness; seeds of vulnerability and intimacy; seeds of hope and change; seeds of success and accomplishment; seeds truth, healing and justice; seeds of anger, resentment, discord and division; seeds of judgement, fear and hatred.

Every feeling, emotion, attitude, and experience we have comes from a packet of seeds and we each have to decide if that's really what we want to scatter on the earth, in our families and friendships.
