Fratelli Tutti

This is the title of the new encyclical of Pope Francis. Roughly it means "fraternity and social friendship". These words were first used by St Francis of Assisi eight hundred years when addressing his brothers and sisters.

In this letter Pope Francis attempts to show that a better way of living together is possible. Covid 19 has shown that we are a "global community all in the same boat" The pope calls for a new way of politics, one which is kinder, more open to dialogue and expressing love of neighbor. "We need to think of ourselves as a single family living in a common house"

To adopt the popular prayer attributed to St Francis: "Where there is populism Pope Francis focuses on people; where there is nationalism, he calls for a reform of the United Nations; where there is individualism, he pushes for solidarity; where there is digital trolling, he asks for kindness; where there is inequality, he urges fairer distribution of the world's goods, when politicians hate, he recommends dialogue."

In the parable of the Good Samaritan, Pope Francis points out how humanity can be changed by suffering.

One commentator said this letter of Pope Francis is "a kick in the head for the rising tide of barbarism"
